THE SCHOOL TROUBLE

The charge of graft made in connection with the purchase of supplies for the new school building has now reached a stage where nothing but a speedy court trial can settle the matter.

The Appeal has considered it mainly as a personal and political row in which the republican party was mostly concerned, but it has reached a point now where it is most emphatically a matter of grave public concern, and the outcome of the dispute will be watched with interest by every taxpayer.

The action of district attorney Roberts brings the accused parties face to face with court proceedings, which will dispose of the charges made in such a way, that the guilt or innocence of the parties who handled the school monies and ordered the supplies in dispute, will be definitely settled.

If the furniture cost the taxpayers of Ormsby county nearly double the price for which it could be laid down in Carson, it is time that the matter was thoroughly investigated.

The taxpayers want to know who is to blame.

Some months ago nearly every citizen in Carson contributed five dollars for the purchase of a chair for the school and some contributed as many as five chairs.

It will have a tendency to dampen any future contributions in that direction if it is shown that these same chairs could be had in this city for about $2.10.

A query naturally arises as to the identity of the party that got the $2.10. It also becomes pertinent to ask why citizens were called on to contribute this money when there was ample money in the school fund to pay several times over for these chairs?

The Appeal hopes that all hands will get down to business as soon as possible, and give the taxpayers the facts.

A few months ago the republican party of Nevada looked upon the fall campaign as a walk-over for them. With the prospect of spoils in sight the eagerness to rush in and grab something was irresistible.

Today the entire party is rent with internal bickering.

The scramble for the federal judgeship plum has started a fight that reminds one of the close of a Donnybrook fair.

The noise of the conflict can be heard all over the State, and it is so pleasing to the ears of some Californians, that they have begun to lay wires for the place. This proposition is answered by a still louder howl from this side of the mountains and the end is a long way ahead yet.

One thing is certain, there is no such scramble for place on the republican state ticket as there was a few months ago.

APPEALS FOR HIBERNIANS

SARATOGA, N. Y. July 20.—The national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in session here is attended by 700 delegates, including 200 members of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Rev. Terrance Caragher of San Francisco made an appeal for financial aid for the 1,400 Hibernians who were impoverished by the earthquake. Action will be taken by the convention to make a contribution from the national treasury.

J. Ogden Armour has hiked him home for Europe. Wonder if he toted an imported soup-bone under his arm.

"No man can serve two masters in business any more than he can in religion," declares W. J. Bryan.

Is hard to find is because nobody who is disinterested cares enough to have an opinion.
